

The transformation I did in the third part is position-dependent Caesar Encoding.

There are 3 parameters: base offset, is the guaranteed shift which ever letter you are; offset per position, which is extra offset added based on the position the letter is in the word; offset per word, which is offset added based on the position of the word in which the letter is placed.